It began like a bud developing slowly into a new and unique structure. Unknown to many spectators, the singed years of 1971 and 1972 began to blossom into calmer years of 1972 and 1973. The year saw a decrease in racial discrimination in the community and a timid progress toward uniting Ferguson as a whole. Better and stronger relationships were pieced together guiding us toward tranquility and Back On The Road Again.

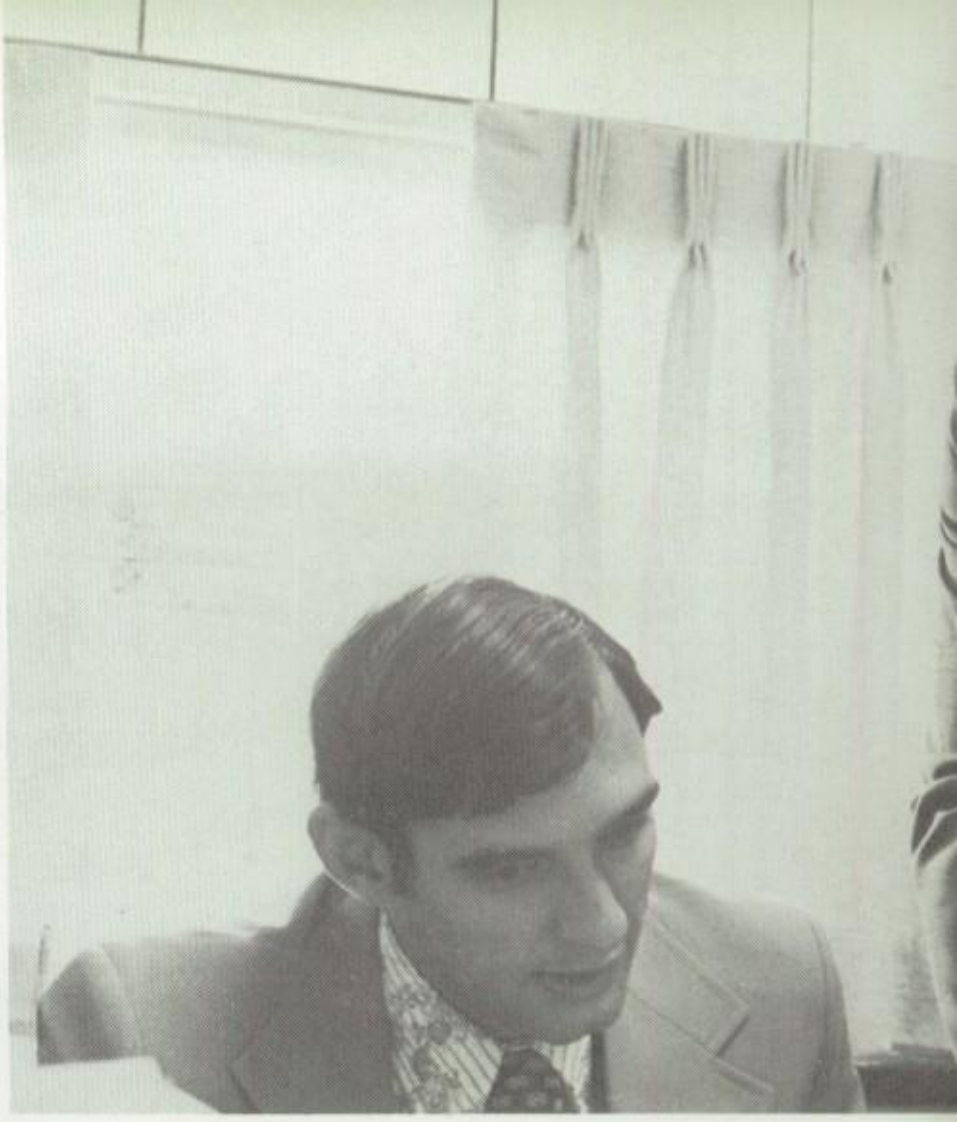
Tardy students wait as Mr. Begor ponders their attendance problem.

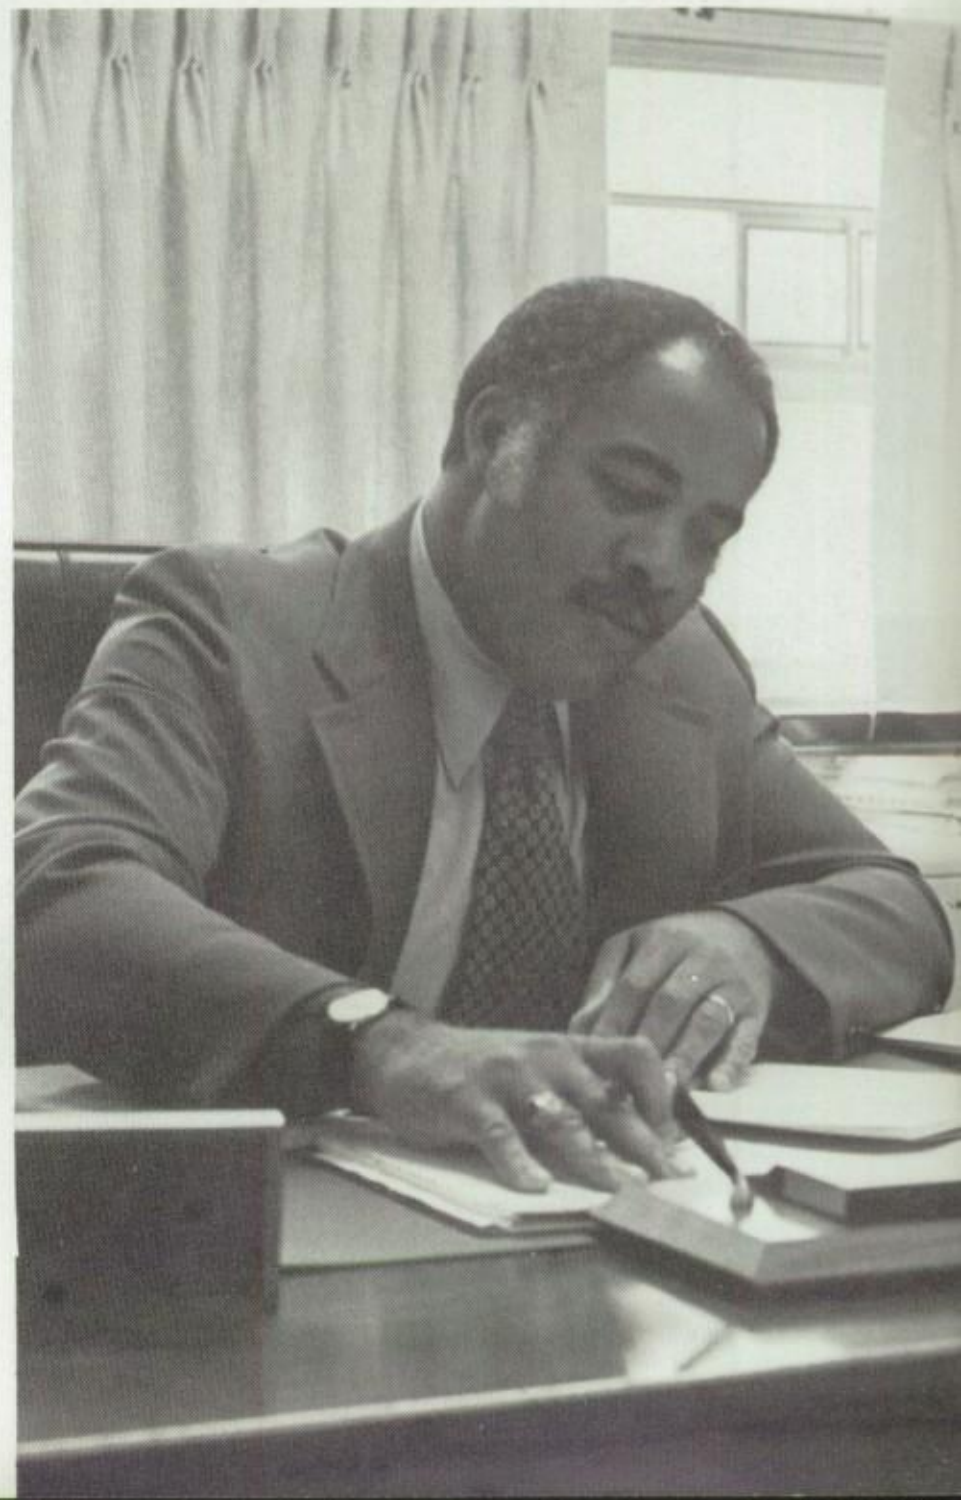


This matter requires the attention of Mr. Walter and Mr. Hines.

Principal plans program

School opened with a welcome back assembly for the student body. The purpose of this assembly was to help get things "Back on the Road Again." During the school year, students appeared in the halls at the wrong place and time. Our principal, Mr. Ross M. Hines and assistant principals, Miss Margaret Lane, Mr. Wayne Begor, and Mr. Tim Walter assisted these students with such problems as finding their way back to class. Curricular problems were handed to Miss Lane. Mr. Walter served as the disciplinarian, while Mr. Begor handled all attendance matters. Even with the current busing problem, Mr. Hines made the school year work.

Quietly working at his desk, Mr. Hines catches up on paper work.



"Gee dad, don't look so disappointed, it's only a game," says Wendy Walter.

Miss Lane and secretary, Mrs. James take part in a friendly war of words.

Guidance assists at College Night; Library opens with new features

In addition to the many hours of counseling, the Guidance Department kept busy assisting in the College Night program. Parents of students received a letter informing them of the program, which Menchville High School hosted.

Seniors were re-ranked for the last time as a class at the end of first semester. However, seniors who had a B average and whose second semester grades affected their rank, were re-ranked near the end of the year. Juniors received their ranks, for the first time, in January.

Taking a new look, the library, headed by Mrs. Lynn Teinken and Mrs. Virginia Millner, opened its doors for the first time to students since last year's fire.

The traditional overdue book fee vanished from the library except on overnight books. A new rule in the library required students to have an I.D. card in order to check out any book. The number of checked out books appeared smaller than in the past. This possibly came from the lack of students' use of their school library.

Important decisions await Linda Mayhew as she keeps her guidance appointment.

Secretaries' skills fulfill tasks

Staff Aid Clark explains rules to Gloria Carter.

"Ferguson High, Mrs. James speaking. May I help you?" Answering the telephone, typing letters, keeping records were of the many tasks of our secretaries, taken for granted by the rest of the school.

Mrs. Lillie Kea, bookkeeper and clerk, accepted money received from school activities and recorded how the money was used.

Occasionally, when walking down the hall, you might have heard the question, "Where's your class leave permit?" This was a frequent question asked by Mr. Robert Valcourt, staff adviser and Mr. Tom Clark, the new staff adviser who replaced Mrs. Brenda Phillips.

Special jobs need special people

Hey! Do you remember what you had for lunch on the first day of school? Each day the student found six complete lunches as well as a la carte items. In addition to the day by day service, our cafe supplied us with special meals and snacks. The football team was served suppers, and banquets were prepared for the organizations which requested the help of our cafe staff. Teas were also furnished on many occasions.

Another special group that aided Ferguson was the custodial staff.

They set up the boys' gym for pep rallies and basketball games, the auditorium for assemblies and plays, moved furniture and equipment, made repairs and cleaned up the school.

Our nurse, Mrs. Josephine Eley, spent her busy days with first aid and trying to emphasize the value of health. Mrs. Eley was often analyzing student illnesses and calling parents while at work. Her motto was, "Good health provides a good future; poor health provides no future".

In addition to administering first aid to students, Mrs. Eley also has records to complete.

Free time is enjoyed by Mr. Henry with a smile.

Taking time out from selling football jerseys, Darryl Lemack and Lee Loving enjoy a healthful lunch.

Seniors probe man; Humanities rise

Creative writing was offered as one of the new courses introduced to the English Department. Second semester brought a block course, a combination of English and History to juniors and seniors. Available also to the qualified seniors was English taught by the thematic approach. The students could choose to work on any of 10 units dealing with the subject, Man. Humanities, an interdisciplinary course which combined music, art, and literature with history and the other social sciences, was also added.

November's district Forensic Meet was hosted by Principal Ross Hines at Ferguson. Winning first place in Girls' Extemporaneous Speaking, Mary Murphy also competed in the regional state meets.

Postulates, theorems, and quadratic equations became meaningful to students instead of being mere abstracts. Courses ranged from General Math to Elementary Functions, a new course added to the curriculum.

Math teachers, according to the department head, Mrs. Mary Taback, used new methods of teaching.

General Mathematics classes experimented with a new unpublished book in dittoed form, while Consumer Math classes went on field trips to a bank and a stock firm.

During March, students in Algebra II or above were given the opportunity to express their knowledge on a nationwide basis by taking the National Mathematics Contest.

King revamps department; Sophomore researches radar

Plans for developing approaches to teaching Science got under way. Under the supervision of department head, Mrs. Fannie King, instructors introduced a new aspect to Science. Interested students got a chance to take a new genetics course in the second semester. Extra courses in applied chemistry were attached to those already in action. Active participation in the Science Fair was stressed by urging students to begin work on worthwhile projects.

A.H. Robbins Pharmaceutical Co., Richmond again extended invitations to visit their plant. Ecology students took quiet treks through the woods of Mariner's Museum as one of their many field trips.

Achievements of individual students were not overlooked as shown by Dave Tudder, who received a research grant from Virginia Junior Academy of Science in Williamsburg, that allowed him to experiment on laser radar this Spring.

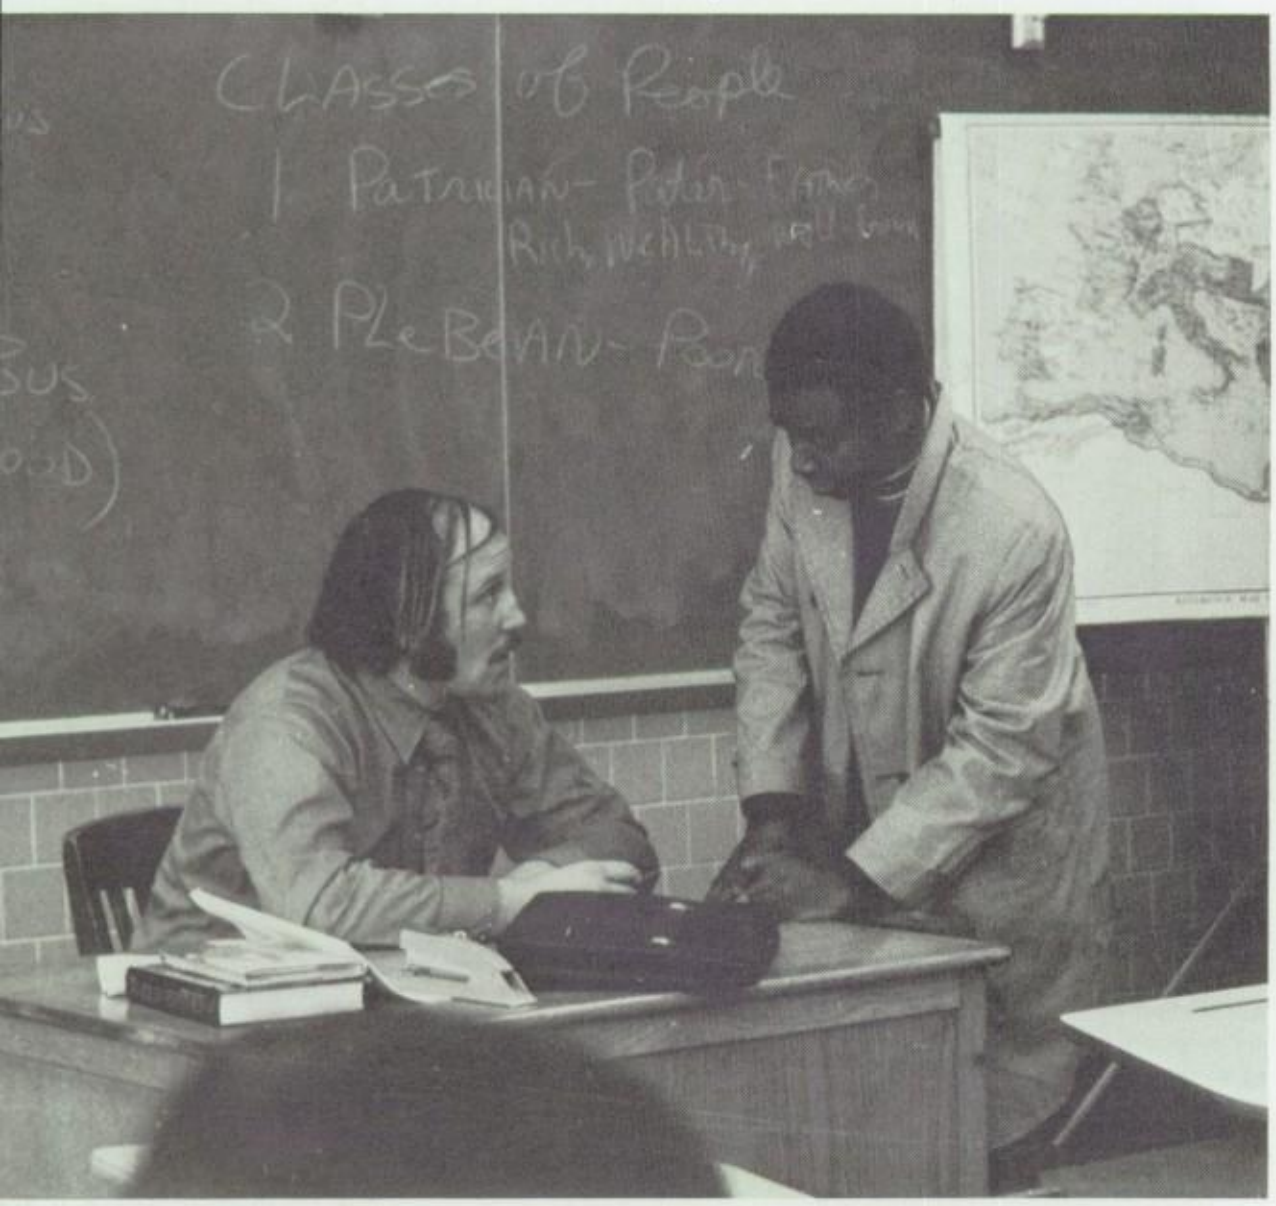
Seniors, in library, signing up for elective government courses, ponder over what to take.

New methods replace old ones

Tolerantly, Mr. Coccoli discusses a delicate subject of World History with Ronald Taylor.



Novel ideas for teaching Social Studies outlined this department's curriculum. Juniors prepared first semester U.S. History assignments through learning activity packages (LAPS). Several teachers working on curriculum constructed LAPS over the past summer, so that interested teachers would administer them to classes. Second semester, seniors decided among several choices which two they were going to take. Among those offered were: Urban Studies, Law, Revolution and Dissension, and American Foreign Policy. Special texts were ordered for supplement to regular book and class material. In addition to these new teaching techniques, the department planned to have a one semester Urban Studies course the following year.

Extra-curricular activities were the U.S. History class field trip to Colonial Williamsburg and the win of senior Eugene Taylor, in the Voice of Democracy contest. This was a year of activity.

Spring vacation in France fascinates students

"Our language department is one of the best academic departments there is in Ferguson High", replied Mr. Sam Sykes, as department head. Students, however, did not agree. With four language electives: Spanish, German, Latin and French, the department lacked enrollment. Students taking foreign language faced teachers and techniques that were a carry-over from the year before.

In the fall, the Classics Club explored the fine arts galleries of Washington. Some weeks later at the French Banquet, Francis Letelier, exchange student, was guest speaker. The enthusiasm of the French gentleman enticed students to join Mrs. Monique Lowd and Mr. Sykes in a journey to France during Easter holidays.

Business classes move; New block courses emerge

Activities continued, as usual, in the business department, headed by Mrs. Becki Congleton, after all the business classes moved together into one building. The arrangement of the new floor plan added to the convenience of department teachers. New adding machines and duplicating equipment gave the rooms an office-like appearance.

General office practices, shorthand, and typing were taught in a new two hour block program. Another new two hour course included eight skills taught to students during the first semester. In the second semester, part of the time was spent in work outside of the school. Mrs. Sylvia Custer, the only newcomer to the Ferguson business department, taught typing and recordkeeping.

An adding machine completes Lynn Wyatt's work quickly and accurately.

With no paper, Valerie Gatewood amazes Mrs. Silvey as she types.

Pride pervades Practical Arts

Interests in trades as hobbies or possibly vocations were born in the four shop areas. Practical and technical projects in electricity, metal shop, drafting and wood shop kept students busy and eventually produced gleams of pride or frowns of disappointment to the guys and girls enrolled there. Yes, girls, too, selected Industrial Arts as an elective again here at Ferguson High. Integration of the sexes provided somewhat of a different atmosphere in that once all boys' Industrial Arts Department.

Furniture creates homey effect

The department of Home Economics produced 20 of the future's perfect husbands. Special two-hour classes prepared these young men for later years when they would be on their own. They learned how to cook, sew, shop wisely and reupholster furniture.

This acquired knowledge came in handy since the entire department was refurnished. The old furniture was reupholsterd or antiqued. New furniture was ordered. Old lamps, rugs and draperies were replaced. Mrs. Catherine Braxton, head of the department, and Mrs. Toni Twiford, new at Ferguson, organized several bake sales. They used money earned from these sales for refurnishing.

Careful not to stitch his fingers, Thomas Ford makes a new shirt for himself in Home Ec.

Vo-tech students renovate building

The Vocational-Technical center serves Newport News, Hampton, and York County. It provided an opportunity for students to learn a particular trade from which they could mold a career.

Vo-tech offered education in air conditioning, refrigeration, and heating, which involved instruction in installing, maintaining, and repairing such equipment. Automotive body work, another course, provided a wide range of operations which entails repairing, renovating, and refinishing motor vehicle bodies.

Other catagories offered were: Automotive Mechanics, Welding, Brick Masonry, Drafting, Practical Nursing, and Woodwork.

Students renovated the entire building and added a new wing.

Acrylics find place in art

"Acrylics?" "Are we going to wax floors?" These were the thoughts of many art students when they learned of a new material that they would be working with. This material was acrylic paint, introduced to first and second year art students. The department also taught students to make paper mache figures, ceramics and jewelry.

Mrs. Dorothy Edwards, department head, made sure that students' art work decorated the office, library, lounge, and several display cases. Miss Carolyn Brown instructed students in making jewelry. Mrs. Jane Sheeran and Mrs. Diane Lopes taught paper mache and ceramics. A Spring art exhibit held in May, enabled others to enjoy Ferguson's art.

Tires, Driver's Ed undergo change

Before the 1972-73 school year many girl students did not know how to change a tire. With directions from Mr. Phillip Turner, Mrs. Judy Allen and Mr. Everette Hicks, the students learned tire changing in addition to their studies. Because teachers thought that Drivers Education was as valuable as any academic class, it was changed to a one semester course so that the teacher could have more time to stress vital points. When the course got longer, it also got harder and many pupils received failing grades.

The department received equipment used to aid the student, in general instruction and to judge distances and vision. Having no single Driver's Ed classroom created a disadvantage because equipment was too large to be moved from room to room.

A $4.00 towel fee and a 50 cent lock fee began the girls' and boys' gym classes. Headed by Mr. Harlan Hott and Mrs. Bertharine Francis, gym classes again were offered to juniors and seniors as electives.

Patiently waiting, Marilyn Watkins looks as Mrs. Carolyn Chittenden sings out the roll.

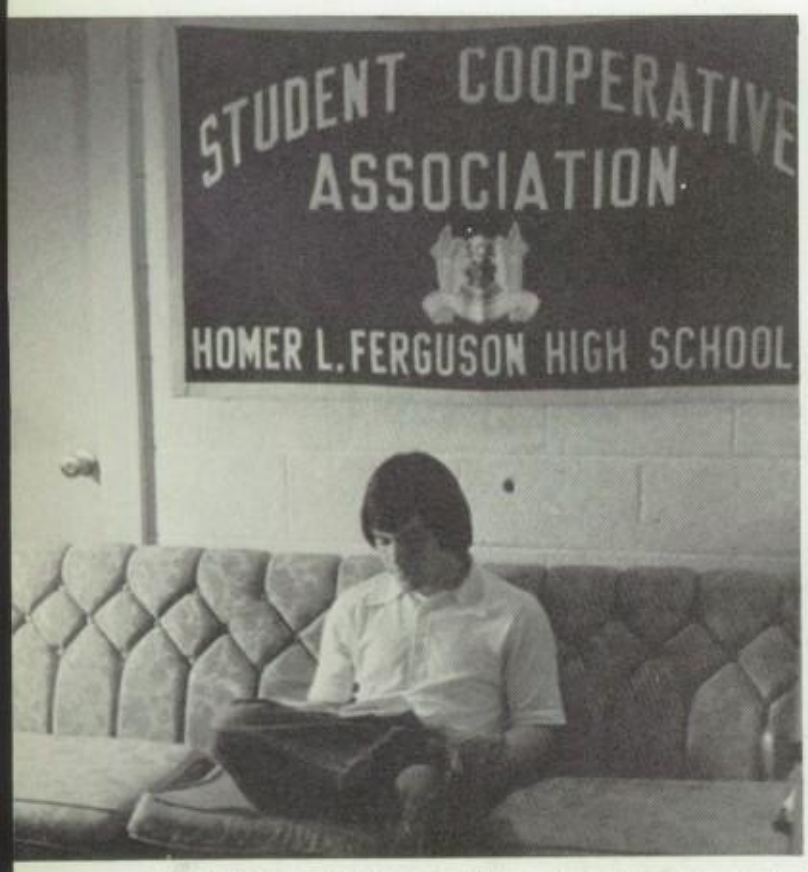
SCA acquires new conference room

Ever heard of an SCA room with carpeted floors and reupholstered furniture? A room with such characteristics, located by the girls' gym, also serves as a conference room for students and SCA officers.

Special Events were planned by chairman, Melia Jones, and publicity was handled by Ellen Bryant. The first event to be publicized was the Fall Festival Dance. This event did not carry well. Students just weren't interested, and the SCA ended up nearly $90 in debt. Other scheduled events made up for the loss, and most were a nominal success, such as the record dance, sponsored jointly with the junior class.

Student Night gave students the chance to show their special talents. Performances included acts by Billy Ballou, Betty Hazelwood, and Linda Jefferson & Company. The SCA members also proved themselves to be civic minded. During the Christmas season, a D-day (dime day) was sponsored to raise some money for Toys for Tots. In mid-April, a Walkathon for Leukemia near Newport News Park brought in funds for this notable charity.

Many projects were carried through as planned, yet some students seemed dissatisfied. An attempt was made to abolish the SCA. Petitions were forwarded to President Jon Cooper, and Jon's only reply was that "The SCA is only what the students put into it, and without their cooperation the SCA is nothing."



Studying student problems becomes more relaxing to Jon Cooper in the new SCA room.

In spite of a small membership, the American Field Service managed to earn enough money to again sponsor another foreign exchange student. Besides their annual money making banquet they had a spaghetti dinner, sold "Nutty Buddy" candy, and gave a folk concert along with the adult AFS chapter.

Francis Letellier, the exchange student from France, Pat Hall, Diane West and Sylvia Johnson, attended school in Swathmore, Pennsylvania during short term exchange, in the spring.

International week gave Ferguson students the opportunity to host foreign students visiting at other schools.

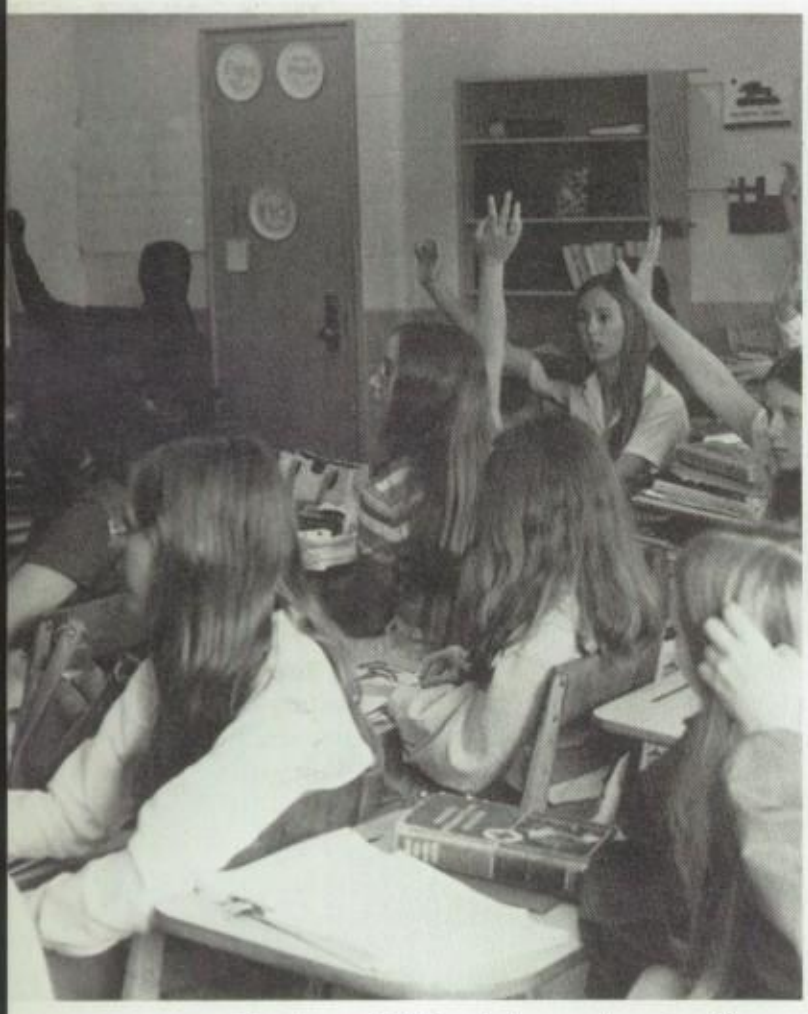
Conventions, inductions highlight NHS year

Ready for another meeting, NHS'ers assemble before the agenda is discussed.

Suggested plans and changes outlined the National Honor Society's activities. Fall induction for promising students of Newport News Intermediate School was outruled by the school board. Plans to march for the United Heart Fund were dissolved when members decided that the society would function only as an honor organization.

Although several plans were not carried through, others were enacted. There was an NHS district convention at William & Mary on November 11. At the convention, members of area honor societies got acquainted with each other, and suggestions for bettering the societies were posed. There was another convention in spring. This one took place at Norcom High in Portsmouth. Two days were alloted for this activity. The usual spring inductions were held. Mrs. Brinkley was head sponsor of the National Honor Society. Spring inductions included outstanding juniors and seniors.



Members of NHS vote for next year's officers.

Magazines, sign of Quill & Scroll existence

Students, who have done commendable literary work, get membership in Quill and Scroll, an international journalism society. To become a member one must be in the upper third of his respective class. One gets into this honorary society by recommendation of the advisor of a school literary publication or through the advisor of the radio show.

Seniors, juniors, and sophomores in ther second semester of work, who meet these qualifications are likely to become members of the organization. Inductions are usually in late spring. This year, members of the society received magazines and pens for the first time, as a fringe benefit of their $3.00 membership fee. Mrs. Santiful was sponsor.

Annual staff acquires badly needed darkroom

"Are you working on your page?" was the favorite question of Nancy Mershon, editor of annual staff, as she urged the staff members to meet the deadlines. Mrs. Margaret Bell, advisor, strived to help students in planning the yearbook, to regain popular vote of the student body, and to rank high in yearbook competition. Extra hours and an organized staff struggled to accomplish the task. The staff also acquired a much needed dark room which allows photographers to develop and print their pictures here at Ferguson.

Four members from the staff had the opportunity to visit New York and attend a workshop at Columbia University. Other members enjoyed a weekend at the University of Va. for the Virginia High School League Yearbook Conference. After two informative weekends, the staff was prepared to return to Ferguson to improve the 1972-73 annual and to get BACK ON THE ROAD AGAIN.

Staff N prints Founder's Day issue

Windjammer students form an assembly line.

Financial difficulties faced the Windjammer as they labored to satisfy student readers. With the high costs of materials, supplies were limited in their usage. Scarce supplies amounted to fewer copies of the paper. The paper focused mainly upon school functions and student life. With regular editions of the newspaper, the staff put out extra issues for special occasions.

As one of eight newspapers to be awarded first place in the United States, the Windjammer conducted programs in the observance of National Newspaper Week. A special paper was issued for the celebration of Homer L. Ferguson's centennial birthday. The issue informed students of the past and present story of Ferguson High School.

In conjunction with the business department, the new staff assembled, produced and designed the Helm. This included four pictures of the Rolling Stones in concert.

The purpose of the Helm was to encourage students to write poetry and short stories and to give them a chance to see their work in print. Although choices were made on the basis of quality in accordnace to "Y", average and "X" classes, all grade levels were asked to participate as to give everyone equal representation.

Finishing touches are added to the Helm by Barry Weinstein and Katie Marion.

Club captures championship

Ready to make a move, chess members show their skill by participating in the annual chess tournament.

"Wonder what my opponent's next move will be?" Every other Wednesday afternoon chess club members attempted to thwart their opponent's strategy in a game of chess. Sponsor, Mr. Robert Ackerman provided boards and playing equipment in hopes of achieving a winning season. The chess club achieved a winning season by capturing the championship.

Actors achieve superior district rating

Inspired by their new director, Miss Patricia Quinn, the Ferguson players performed in the festival of one act plays at Menchville High school. They received a unanimous superior rating for the play, "A Celebration of the Destruction of Man." With Francis Letellier as the Narrator, and Ace Underwood as Man, this one act showed how man's quest to be an individual is repelled by his peers, society and politics.

Another play, "The Spoon River Anthology," by Edgar Lee Masters, was produced and presented to the student body on December 1st and 2nd. The Spring productions were "Harvey", the story of an invisible rabbit, by Mary Chase, and "The Fantastics," a modern-day Romeo and Juliet, by Tom Jones and Harvey Schmit.

Directing taught among drama techniques

Somewhat distraught, Miss Pat Quinn ponders the fate of "... Man".

Gaining experience by working first hand, Ferguson drama students learned make-up and acting techniques this year. Although most were new at the game, the members caught on quickly. They composed the stage and make-up crew of three plays. They were: "Harvey", "A Celebration of the Destruction of Man", and the "Spoon River Anthology." Experience in directing was also covered. Irish Howard and Gloria Parker were given the chance to direct a play.

ICT, VICA produce leaders in labor

Students take interest and notes during Mr. King's ICT lecture.

The Industrial Cooperative Training program, designed to furnish live, on the job training, catered to those students in their junior and senior years.

Under the leadership of Mr. Julian Baker and Mr. Ronald King, students were provided with instruction and training so that they would be prepared for employment in some specific or closely related trade.

Through arrangements with business, industrial, and professional establishments in the community the public high school obtained part-time employment for students during school hours. The school furnished the technical subject matter related to the occupations, offering opportunities for the students to study working conditions in the business world and make adjustments while under the supervision of the I.C.T. Coordinator.

Students enrolled in ICT were eligible to become members of VICA (Cocational Industrial Clubs of America). This organization sought to create interest and esteem for the ICT program and the world of Labor.

At the District IV VICA Contest at Kecoughtan High School, Andy McElhose won first place in the poster contest; Garry Rhodes, first place in the talent contest, and Danny Barrows captured third place in Machine Shop Practice. So these industrious students have already begun to show progress in preparing themselves to become leaders in the world of work.

Students involved in DECA, Distributive Education Clubs of America were given the opportunity to prepare themselves for a future in the world of business, marketing and distribution. DECA members presented a shoplifting program in November and a Fashion show in February. They also conducted marketing research surveys in school and in the community.

Planned projects during the year consisted of the collection of canned goods at Christmas which were distributed to senior citizens at Patrick Henry Hospital, and sale of candy bars to replenish the club treasury.

Annual field trips were taken to Washinton, Richmond, and to Military Circle in Norfolk, so that students could have more experience in buying goods from companies.

Many such projects fulfilled the year under the guidance of Miss Floyda Carter, Mrs. Deborah Buchanan, and Mr. Jimmy Farmer. Instructing nearly 180 students, DECA sponsors hoped to make their members a little more aware of the problems faced in the business world.

DECA participated in a district contest in March. Students competed with schools in the Newport News — Hampton area.

Reginald Pace, President of DECA, received 1st place as Male Student of the Year. A completed autobigraphical manual of school life and work was sent in to be judged.

Mu Alpha Theta, math contest at FHS

Seventy-three was the year that Ferguson applied for membership in Mu Alpha Theta. The very idea of a Mathematics honor society in high school aroused the interest of the Greknomathian Club and all students interested in math. Membership was determined by the overall average and math courses taken by the student. A National Annual Mathematics Contest was offered to all students for a small fee of 10 cents. After the test, the top three scores were turned in as a team score for the nationwide contest.

"How about a tour of France for the discount price of only $407?" French students were offered this chance, which was to include plane fare, room and board and all sight-seeing tours. French club sponsor, Mrs. Monique Lowd was a chaperone on the long awaited trip. Traveling by a bus to New York City students and chaperone arrived at the airport awaiting to board the plane. But they were not permitted to get on the plane because their travel agent failed to show up with tickets. Later, it was discovered that the so called travel agent had fled with the money. This resulted in an unhappy Easter holiday for most students.

Members enjoy student teaching

Ferguson High's Future Teachers of America emphasized the elements and basic goals of teaching to its members, steered by sponsor, Miss Annette Rimkus. Unique as a school project to the club, FTA participated in student teaching at three elementary schools. After a party for underpriviledged children, the members collected for UNICEF. The club also had speakers who helped explain their various jobs in the field of education. Other activities were a bake sale and a banquet where new officers were inducted.

Changing advisers in the middle of the year affected the Key Club, but little. The Key Club continued to work on projects second semester just as in the first. For the year 1972 and 1973, the Key Club's advisers were Mr. Martin Bunnell and Mr. Phillip Turner. Under the direction of these two, and president, Rob Braig, the Key Club worked with Muscular Distrophy, Heart Fund, and ROT.

"Doughnuts, again!" was the most often heard cry at a Monday afternoon Keyette meeting. Although it is primarily a service club, they raised money for a hundred dollar scholarship to aid a Keyette member to go to college. School projects consisted of selling confetti, key chains, and valentines. Working for the Humane Society and ROT (Recycle Our Trash) were projects set up to help the community.

During the year, the Keyettes, along with the Key Club, helped a needy family by sending them money, food and clothing.

In March, eight Keyettes and Mrs. Janice Harvey, their adviser, went to an international convention in Boston Massachusetts.

Despite team determination, opposition causes setbacks

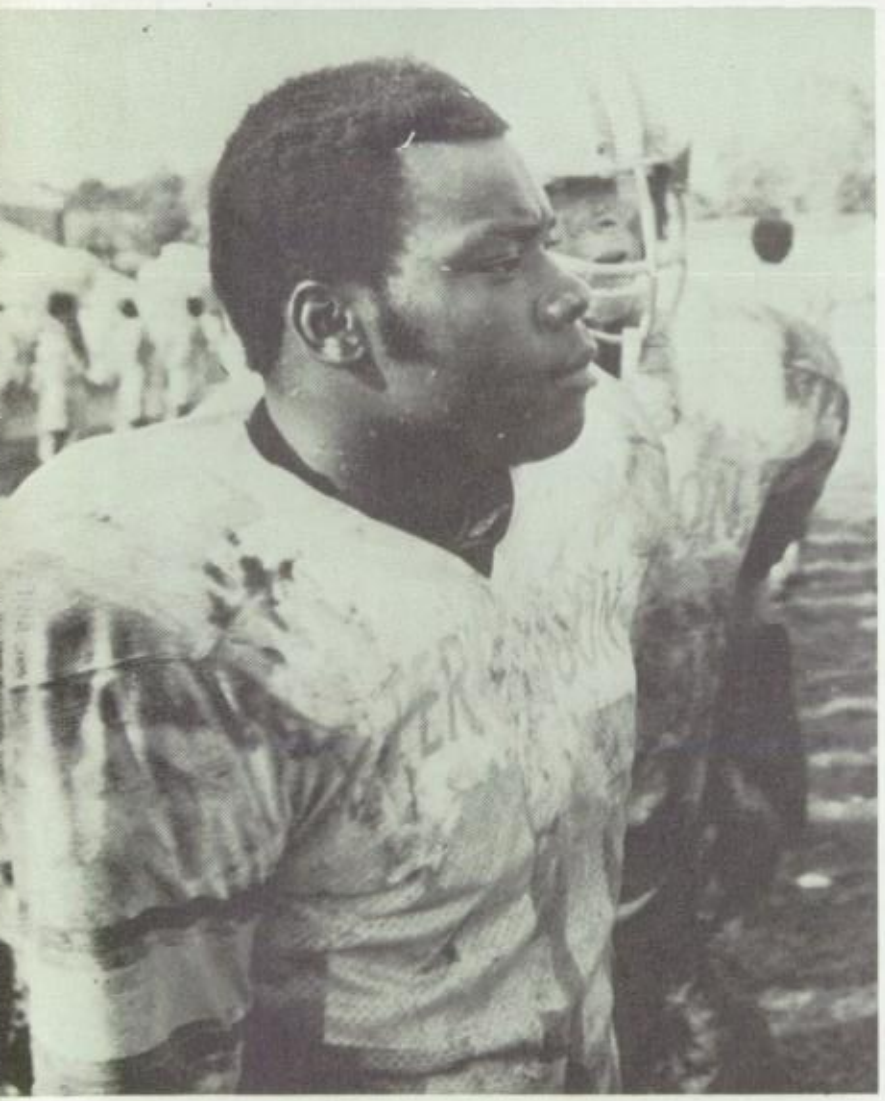
Opening the season with a win, the varsity football team triumphed over Kecoughtan. In the next bout, with Hampton, an unexpected play, and a touchdown cost the Mariners the game. After the second loss in a row, the team rebounded in the next game against Denbigh, winning by a score of 38-0. The tactics of the York Falcons jarred the Mariners. They lost because of another unexpected play.

In the following game, Ferguson strongly defeated Huguenot at Todd Stadium. Trailing 20-0 in the 4th quarter, a Huguenot player socred, making the final score 20-6.

After losing to Bethel, the varsity won a string of three straight games against Blair, Pembroke, and arch rival, Warwick. In the Warwick game, the defense of the Mariners was the decisive factor: holding the Raiders to 15 yards passing, four yards rushing, as the Mariners beat them, 16-6.

Carefully watching the game, the referee makes certain he doesn't call the wrong play.

Rushing past Warwick's defense, Harold Grant makes a touchdown after intercepting a pass.



With dirt and scars proving hard play, Tony McCright looks at the game in dismay.

Team efforts responsible for winning season

"Ready! Set! Hike!" Echoing commands such as these could be heard during practice sessions of the JV football team. Enthusiasm and team spirit helped the JV's to walk off with a 7-1-0 record for the season.

Coach Everette Hicks instructed the group in basic football skills with hopes that someday they might become varsity stars. Coach Hikes required that team members give up much of their leisure time for practice. Most members were willing to participate in long and exhausting hours of practice needed to prepare themselves for the coming season. Players had to rise early on Saturday mornings to prepare themselves for the scheduled games.

The season opened with a 20-0 win over Denbigh, perhaps proving that "practice makes perfect." The squad was not large in number this year, so Coach Hicks worked with the members he had. Many problems evolved. Mothers faced the problems of washing dirty uniforms; teachers faced grading unfinished homework, and players faced the possibility of receiving bodily injuries if not careful in play. But cooperation and sportsmanship helped all concerned to handle these situations and to make last season a worthy season.

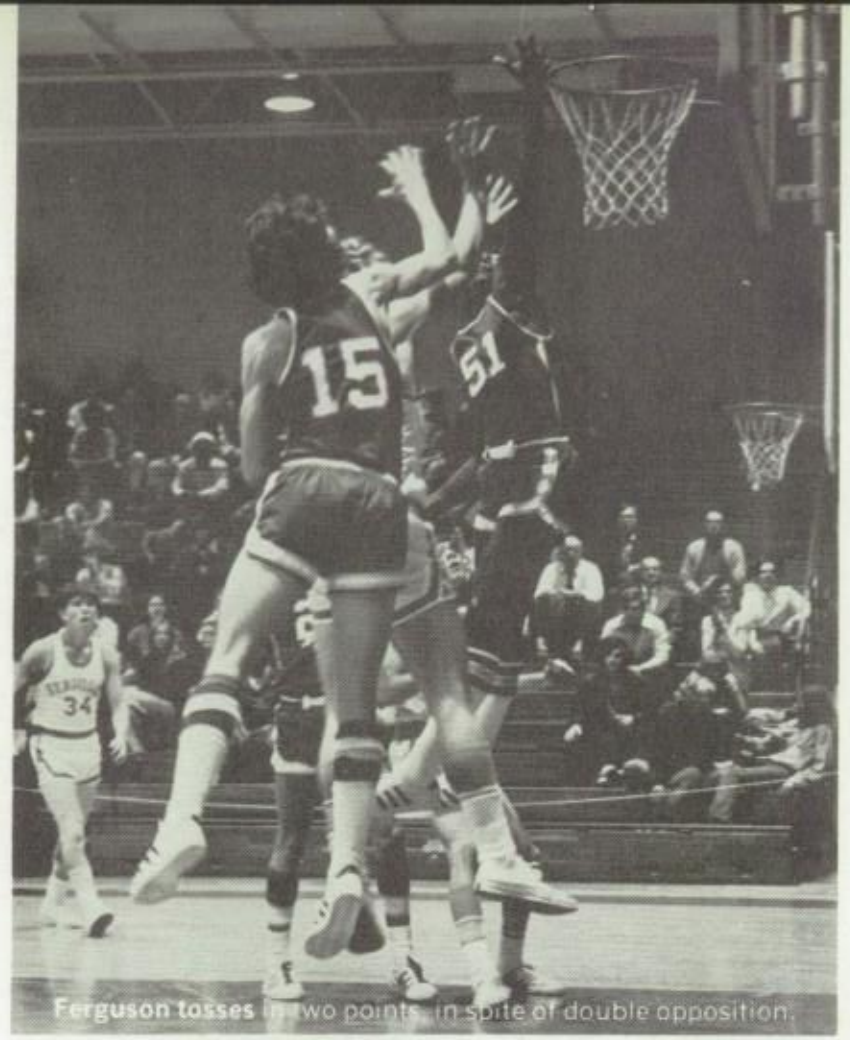
Inexperience and overall lack of depth forced the varsity basketball squad to end its season with a 3-17 record. But under the inspiration and leadership of Freddie Travis, the team matured a great deal. Game after game, the team constantly exhibited the hustle and determination that Coach Travis demanded. During the season, James Goodwin and Charles Robinson frequently led the team in offense as the Mariners spent the season in rebuilding.



Ferguson tosses in two points, in spite of double opposition.

At the line, Tommy Stokes makes his free throw against the York Falcons.

Agilely, James Goodwin manages to get the tip off in the jump against the Pembroke Pirates.

Team earns district championship

For the first time, the Mariner track team won the Regional Tidewater meet. Mike Ellington won the mile and Glenn Hostetter took first in the discus throw. Mariner's team collected third place in the Portsmouth Invitational, at Tidewater Community College. Sophomore, Mike Ellington, in his first year at Ferguson High, became known as one of the top two cross country milers in the state.

The season ended; FHS emerged as Eastern Regional champs and placed fifth in State Regional The team tied with Kecoughtan for a second place in the District dual, placed fifth in the VPI Invitational meet, and won second place in the Peninsula District meet.

Injuries prevail; State Champ emerges

From December 6 until the State Championship, the Mariner wrestling team survived. The team took third place in the District competition. Injuries resulting from this match did not stop eight of Ferguson's wrestlers from competing in the Regional tournament held in Portsmouth. One week later Donnie Carrithers emerged from the Mariner wrestling team as the state champ. Leading the wrestlers through the season and championships was Coach Don Coccoli.

Tennis team adds girls; places third in district

The Tennis Team started its new season with the addition of three girls. The team functioned smoothly. However, in the beginning, there was some concern as to where the girls would dress. The problem was solved by the coach, Christian Smith, when he decided to let them dress in the girls' bathroom, much to the dismay of the male team members.

Randy Bryant led the team to a winning season of 8-2 and third place in the district. In the district tournament, both Bryant and the O'Donnell twins made noteworthy contributions. Bryant played in the singles semi-finals and the twins made the doubles quarter-finals.

Mariners draw winning season with high district rating

"Hey man, put the ball right over the plate!" Practicing hours upon hours to achieve a successful and winning season, the Mariners ended up with a commendable rating in the district. Beginning after school practice in March, the team members worked to gain strength in pitching and hitting. Team captains, Barry Wynings and Paul Morgan worked with Coach Everette Hicks in getting new players in shape for upcoming games. Coach Hicks felt that if the team received more support, it would help boast the team's moral.

"Just call us the mini-Mariners". The JV's are to follow in the steps of the Varsity team, but the mini-Mariners displayed maxi talents by an open game victory over Hampton with a score of 11-9. Coach George Walters helped the team with basic fielding skills, including hitting and pitching. Coach Walters felt that "the key to success of our season rests in the arms of our pitchers". Pitchers Steve Spencer and David Talbert led the team to a successful season. Outstanding hitters included Dennis Parker, Donald Collins, Steve Spencer, and John Dunn. Bob Killen, a student teacher in the physical education department, was assistant coach.

Team produces district tourney champions

Practicing during school hours and getting out of school early for a match proved worthwhile for the Mariner golf team. They won by only two shots in the games with Bethel and Hampton. One game was finished in ptich black because the team teed off late. In spite of these handicaps, the team ended a record season with nine wins, no losses, and wound up district champions. Four members were fortunate enough to play in the district tournament at the Langley Field Golf Course. Gary Parsons finished second.

Weatherman frowns on hockey season

Through a season of rain and mud the girls' hockey team played on. Since Ferguson had no field, Hampton Roads Academy became the site for all home games. The girls played against six different area schools. Coaches, Miss Dorothy Williams and Mrs. Carolyn Chittenden, shared the joys of the rainy weather with the 15 girls.

The end of the season was completed with a sports day at William and Mary. The team got a chance to compete with teams which they had not played during the season.

GRA sells bulbs for new uniforms

All girls who were interested in girls' athletics and who participated in one or more after school sports were eligible for membership in the Girls Recreation Association (GRA). Afterschool sports were volleyball, track and field, basketball, hockey, and gymnastics.

During the spring, the GRA sold light bulbs in an effort to raise money to buy new uniforms for next year's basketball team. Also sweat shirts and jackets were sold again this year.

This year, Gymnasts, at Ferguson, practiced five days a week for four months. Their efforts paid off with a three win, two loss record. Ending the season with an unblemished record was Barbara Wallis. On March tenth, Shannon Holder, Leahne Dutson, Kathy O'Brien, Laura Graves, Barbara Wallis and Marion Roby represented the school at the Eastern Regional Gymnastics meet. The 13 member girls' basketball team under the direction of Mrs. B. Francis, ended their season with a one win, eight losses. The winning game was against Hampton High with a score of 31 to 19.

High spirits make sophs win

Class officers were elected in September and under their leadership a very successful year started. In October, at the Fall Festival, the Sophomores won the Spirit Contest. Spirit, cooperation, and hard work have characterized these leaders and members of the class council. They have led the class in numerous projects such as bake sales, doughnut sales, candy sales, car washes, a Sweetheart Contest and two exciting student-faculty basketball games.

Spring elections brought a fantastic outpouring of nineteen candidates for the Junior offices. This is illustrative, once again, of the spirit, leadership, and interest of a great class.

"Our rings are here!" Echoing calls of happiness filled the halls in mid-December. Juniors were delighted to hear that a long awaited dream was about to come true.

In the fall, each junior picked, from many various designs, a class ring of his choice. Then, as was the tradition, students received their rings at a semi-formal ring dance. Handsomely dressed couples stepped out under the giant class ring, and their own dates placed the special rings on their partners' fingers and sealed the ritual with a kiss.

Class sponsors, Mrs. Janet Kessler and Mrs. Colethia Holcomb, assisted President, Michael Johnston and the other class members with many money making endeavors. Doughnuts and candy bars were sold to replenish the class treasury. Bumper stickers imprinted with the words, "Ferguson Mariners", were sold to boost school spirit. The officers and diligent council members worked to find ways to raise money for senior activities. The class also worked jointly with the SCA in sponsoring a record dance which was a nominal success.

2nd semester full of activities

Second semester was different to most seniors. Many senior activities dubbed the second semester schedule. Activities ranged from a banquet to graduation practices. Also included in the schedule were Senior Prom, Luau, the Senior Assembly, picnic, and Senior Skip Day. The picnic was held at Huntington Park and the luau and banquet, in the cafeteria. Skip Day was welcomed by all seniors, since it preceeded prom night. Most participated in all the available activities, waiting for graduation day to arrive.

Senior class profits from Bookstore

As one of their money making projects, the senior class bought the bookstore from the SCA. On sale were such necessities as: folders, pencils, paper, and even Certs. The class also sold football jerseys, at $4.00 each. Students had engraved on jerseys, numbers of their choice.

In the first part of the year, the senior class sponsored a "Back to School Dance", which started off a promising year.

While dancing to the soothing music, couples hold each other with a warm embrace.

'72 class chooses Temple for prom

Some seniors felt as if they could have "danced all night" while attending the annual Senior Prom, Thursday, May 14 from nine to midnight. Over 300 students attended the special occasion that signified a plateau in many of their lives. This was to be the last high school dance most would ever attend, and an event that was to end their high school career was drawing near.

The Prom for the Class of '73 was held at the Rodef Sholem Temple on Whealton Road unlike the class of '72's prom which was held at the Hampton Roads Coliseum.

Most couples appeared to enjoy the prom. They danced to soul, rock, and popular music. Both juniors and seniors helped to serve refreshments which consisted of punch and many differently decorated little cakes.

Seated at that special table, couples pause for refreshments at the prom.

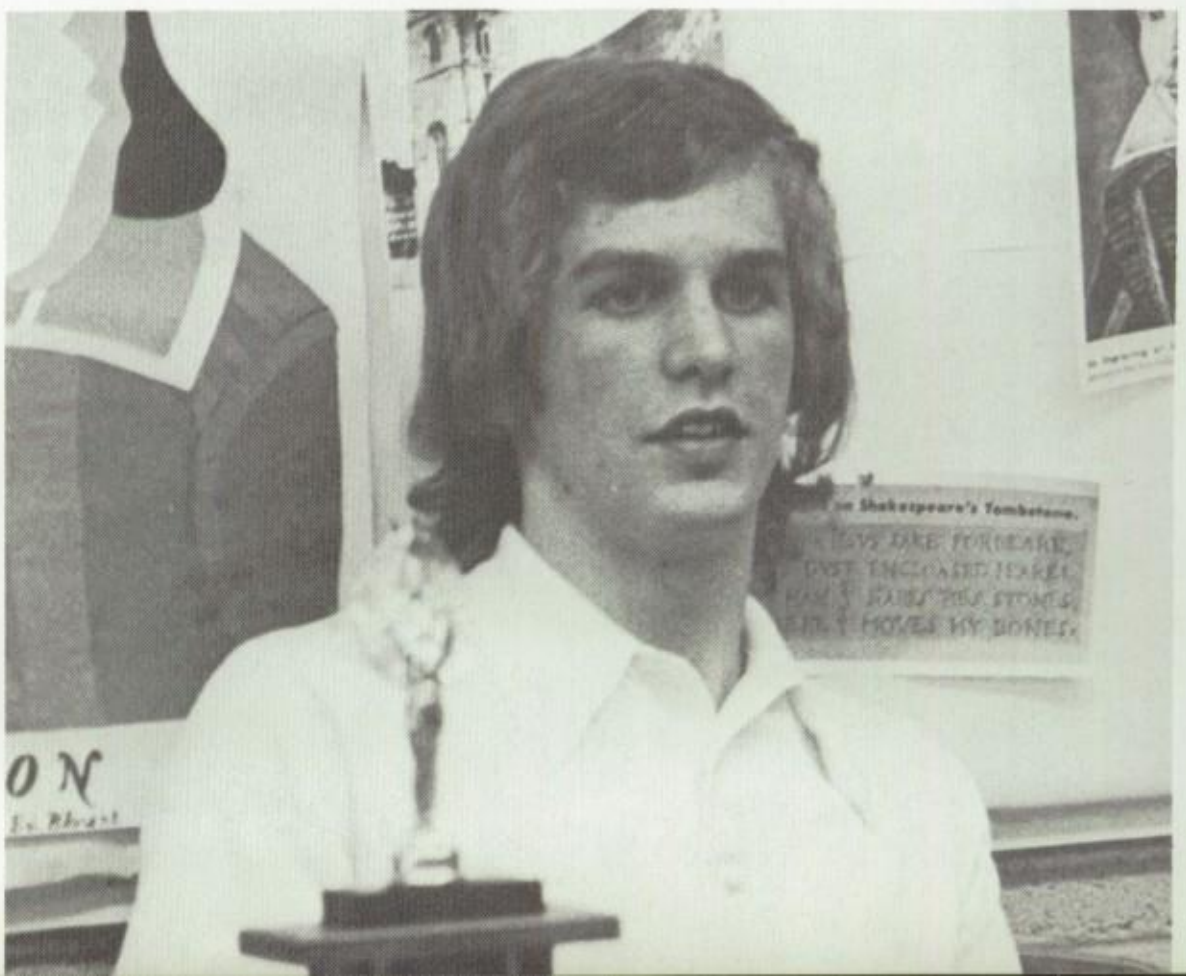
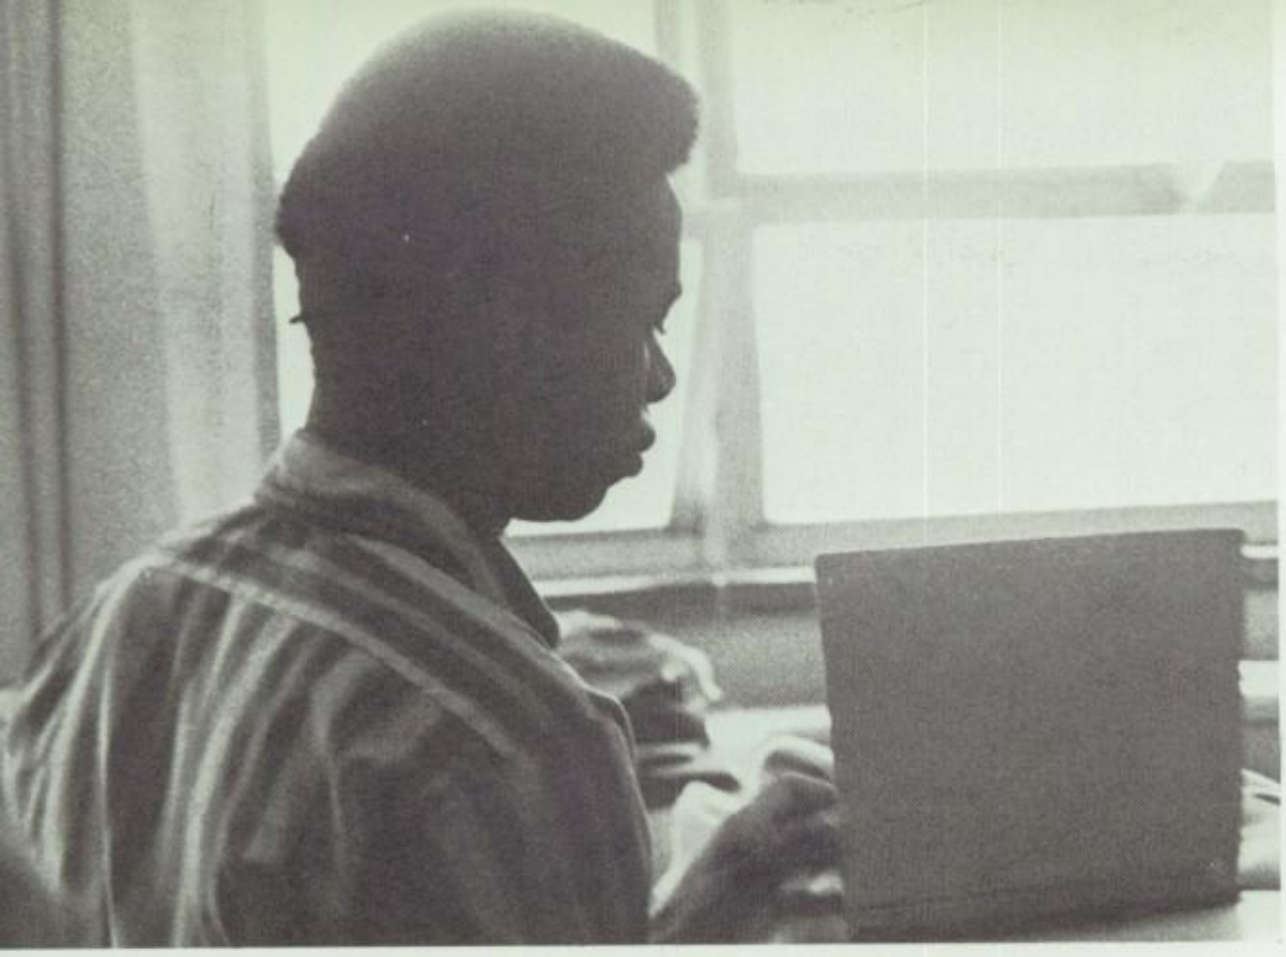
Seniors teach on Leadership Day

Seated at the teacher's desk, Rob Braig admires a newly received award.

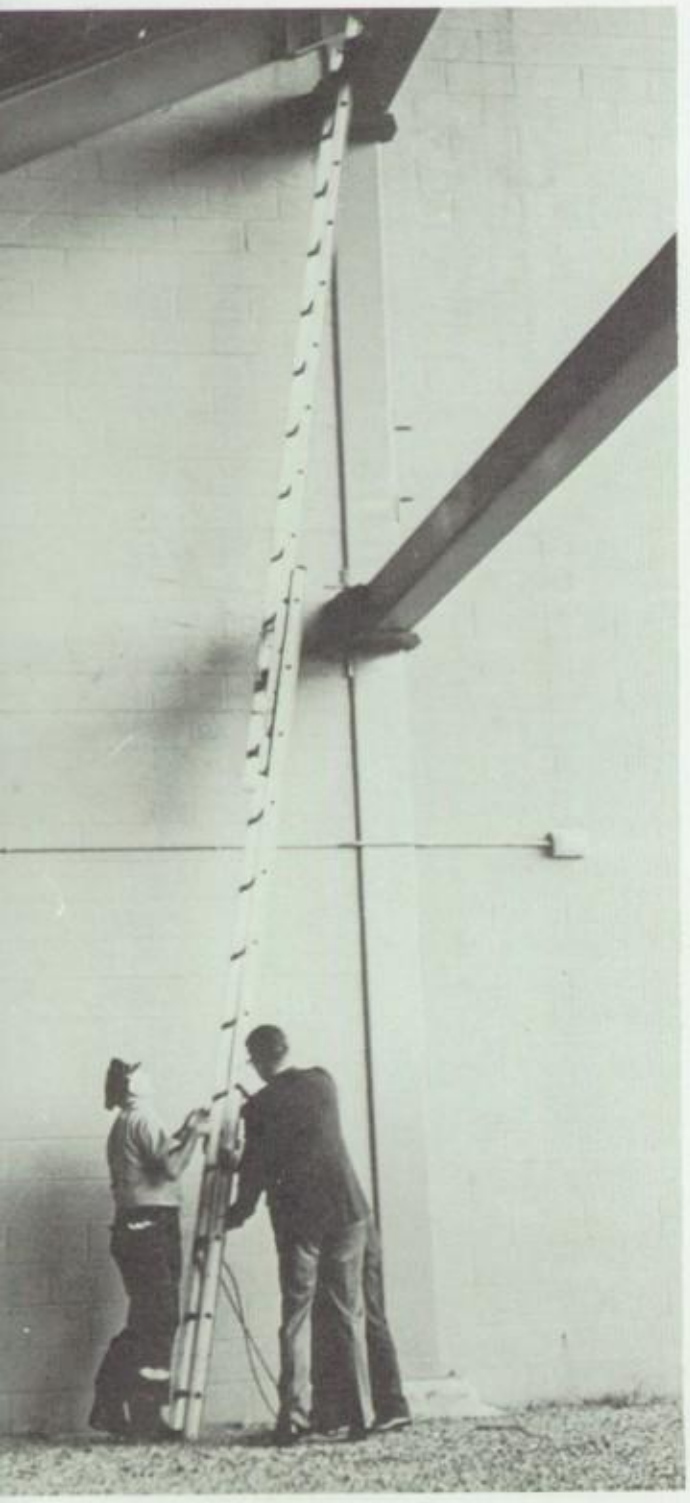




During English class, Eugene Taylor refers to his notes for answers.

"Congratulations!" At the presentation of diplomas every senior was congratulated by Principal, Mr. Ross M. Hines. Music was presented by the A Cappella Choir and the Mariner Band. Selections included "Hallelujah, Amen" and "A Mighty Fortress is Our God" by the choir and "Pomp and Circumstance" by the band. The ceremonius event was concluded with the Benediction, given by Senior Class president, Gerry McBride.

Graduation rehearsals were held in the boys' gymnasium at different times during the school day. The final ceremony was held at Todd Stadium. Parents, relatives and friends witnessed the graduation exercise. To many seniors, graduation was a turning point in their lives. Whether they were to attend college or to get a job, most seniors were eager to see graduation day arrive.



Under bleachers during graduation, firemen make efforts to contain a fire.

WINTER: a season of freedom. A prayer is answered — the P.O.W.'s returned. Horrors of war ceased and steps toward peace began . . . free movement flowed while juniors discussed new rings and their senior year . . . two week vacation, December 20; students enjoyed the freedom of a fabulous Christmas. Three weeks later, snow fell and another free week out of school . . . dismal days arrived on January 23 — exams . . . "The Poseidon Adventure" and "Sounder" released minds from school affairs . . . Nixon inauguration . . .

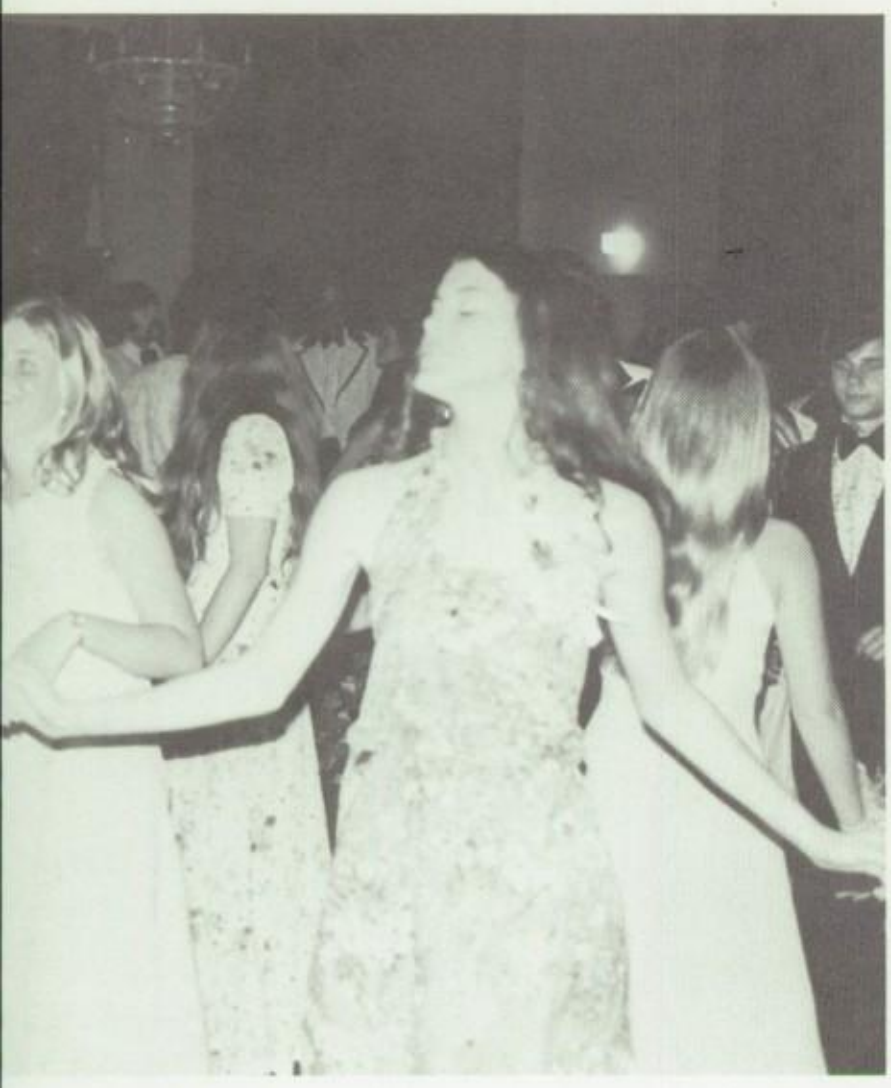
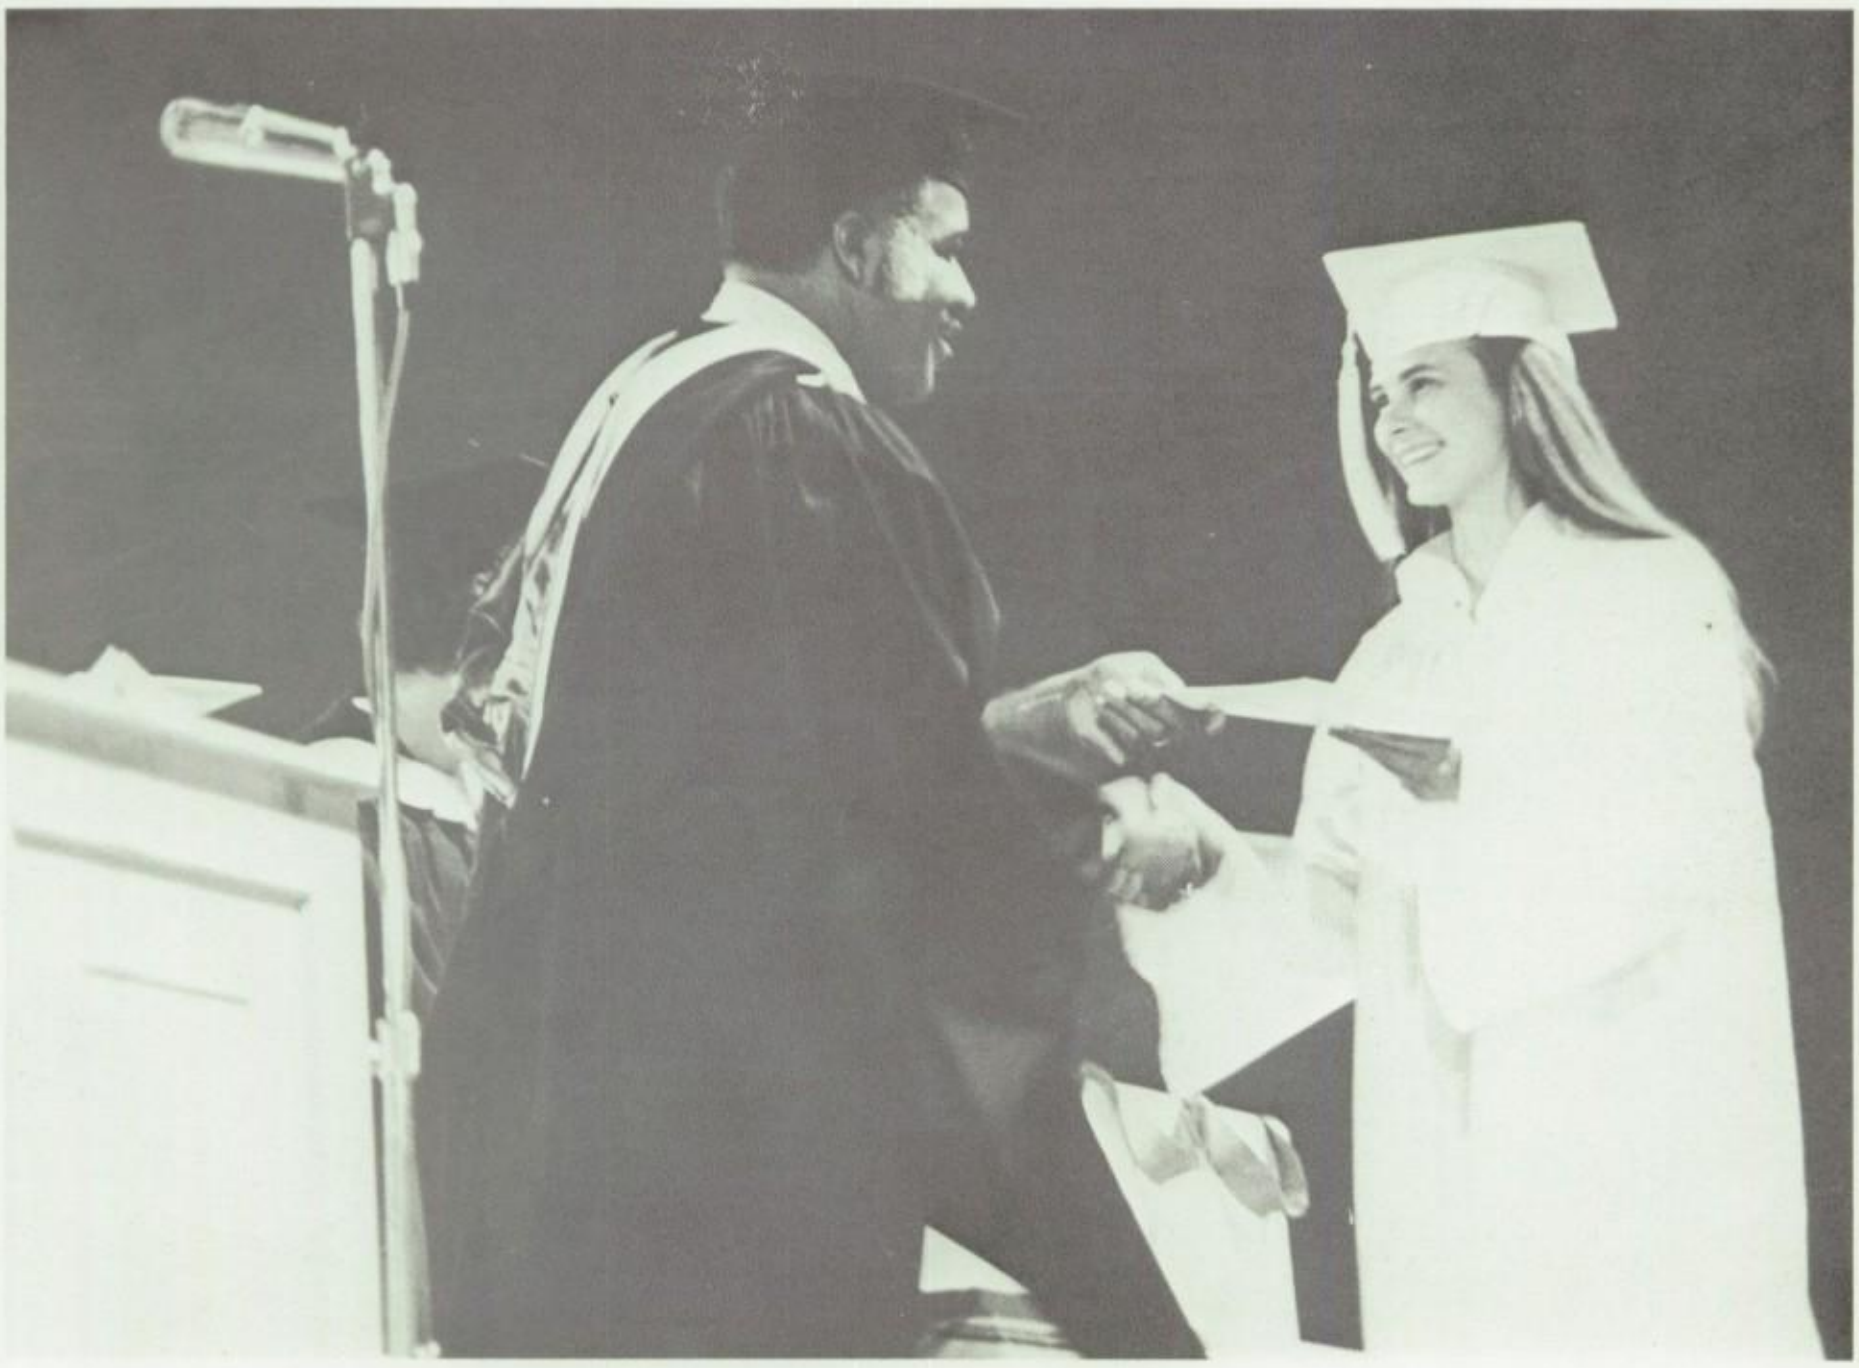
GOOD LUCK AND HAPPY'END OF SEMESTER' TO YOU.

SPRING OF 73: a season for excited seniors . . . graduating seniors indulged themselves in a delightful evening at the prom at Rodef Sholom Temple . . . elections brought new promises for 1973-74 . . . a relaxed, but shortened vacation increased the spread of spring fever, all wait for the year to end . . . Republican Party on trial for dishonesty: the Watergate Trial. What will happen next? . . . graduation at last!





JUNE 14: It ended with the sun shining and roses in full bloom. Open doors of Ferguson began to close. Attitudes changed and reflected on the harshness of the environment — disputes, not only between students, but between the faculty and SCA. Hands reaching, never touching, but the closeness proved there was still a possibility for peace and a better future. Even though the world's episodes did not reflect exemplary images; Ferguson did not follow its path. Ferguson clung to the fragments which we managed to salvage the year before — it was not much, but more than we had had the year before. "Yesterday's faults developed into today's dreams and will become tomorrow's power." With a majority of hard working people, Ferguson was able to take a step closer to getting BACK ON THE ROAD AGAIN.

Dusty,

To a real dumb but, who is a dumb as a Bum, Although you are dumb you are not a bum because bums arent as dumb as you can be, however you are dumb and everyone knows, so every time your dumb just blow your nose, although remember all the dumb times we had like bums, however we had a couple dumb times as bums we arent always dumb, although you are still dumb as a bum, and I like to drink rum. um, um however I am dumb, although you are dumb too, but as we all know your dumb as a bum so be dumb some. keep as dumb as you are and you wont go far

From Dumb,

Michael

Hey Mike,
How's everything?
Mike, I just started to get to know you since school started. You have got to be the nicest guy I've met in a long time I know you've heard this before, but I really mean it.
I hope I can last in algebra with Mitton, but I know with you in there
I will. I hope I can get to know you better this year. This year should be really good especially during the plays
I hope I can work with you ~~during~~ working with the lights, we can leave them off the whole time (ha) I'm just kidding
So don't get any ideas (just kidding again)
I'll see at that Sock Dance with ponytail and bobby socks and all. Mike there's not much else I can say but I want to wish you all the luck now and the future to come. Mike you're alright
Please stay the way you are.
Mike, don't forget me OK!
Be good. Don't raise too much hell
OK? Take care, Love "Z"

Mike,
I'm answering

Mike,
I'm sorry if you thought I wouldn't sign this year book, but you didn't give it to me to sign. Well, I really don't know what to say but I think are you are the sweetest guy I've ever met. I'm sorry if there are any hard feelings about us. But I still care for you and if you ever want me to I'll still go out with you. Kasey had given me this to sign because she told me that you wuck this year and also good wuck next year. sign it. I wish you wuck this year during the summer pass time for I hope to bee ya some time during the H-night for and I know I'll see ya at the 50's dance. tomorow night. Also at the we're not mad at each Be good and I hope we time if ya like! other anymore. Call me some I don't mind!

Love ya,
Mona

To Mike,
a very nice guy who I have had known long. Stay out of trouble and good luck always.
Love ya lots,
Sandia

Mike,

Hey Babe! You're really sweet & cute and crazy! You're alot of fun to be around. Remember that nite me, you, Kasey, Darell & Mike Staver went drinking? Don't forget our Algebra class last year and how you cheated off me last year. Now this year we're both stuck back in there again. Now I might having to cheat off your paper so I can pass.

Be good & stay like you are and you'll go far. Don't skip too much.

Love Ya,
René

My life's about to be a good love
Yeah, I really will Probably wouldn't
I don't know what I'm about
I'll be sweet you bet
Make you hold me

Mike,
I still remember the first time I met you - over a bowl of pop corn with Terry Thomas. Then the next time was when I went out with John and you went out with Teri. You're really a cute, sweet, and very crazy guy. Don't change and you will go far. Don't forget the time - me + Becky thumbed home from Football with you and Terry the first night it snowed. Well - since I'm gonna be running out of room if I keep on going - I guess I better stop. Do you think you might make it this year? I hope so.

Love ya,
Cindy
